Advanced Custom Fields

Instead of finding a theme that has one million options, customize the theme & admin UI to suit your client's needs.

The screenshot shows the 'Location' configuration page for Advanced Custom Fields. The page title is 'Location - Add Fields to Edit Screens'. On the left, under the 'Rules' section, it says 'Create a set of rules to determine which edit screens will use these advanced custom fields'. The main area contains two rules: 'Post Type' is equal to 'post' and 'Post Category' is equal to 'Events'. Below these rules, it says 'match all of the above criteria'.

Don't clutter your server

Replace a file in your media library by uploading a new one in its place.

Replace Media Upload

NOTE: You are about to replace the media file "spectacles.gif". There is no undo. Think about it!

Choose a file to upload from your computer

No file selected.

Select media replacement type:

☒ Just replace the file

Note: This option requires you to upload a file of the same type (image/gif) as the one you are replacing. The name of the attachment will stay the same (spectacles.gif) no matter what the file you upload is called.

☐ Replace the file, use new file name and update all links

Note: If you check this option, the name and type of the file you are about to upload will replace the old file. All links pointing to the current file (spectacles.gif) will be updated to point to the new file name.

Please note that if you upload a new image, only embeds/links of the original size image will be replaced in your posts.
